JAYDEN JURY IS SENT HOME

OVER £100million of government investment, creating 6 000 jobs and 4 000 homes across the county was signed off at Abingdon and Witney College last week

Minister for Universities and Science Greg Clark and Oxfordshire Local Enterprise Partnership (LEP) vice chairman Ian Wenman penned the £108 5m Oxfordshire Growth Deal on January 22

A total of £15 7m has been confirmed for 2015/16 with the rest being delivered by 2021

For full story see page 9

A JURY in the trial of a teenager accused of helping bury Jayden Parkinson's body after his brother murdered her was sent home last night after more than eight hours of deliberating

The jury at Oxford Crown Court has not yet come to a verdict.

Judge Patrick Eccles sent jurors home until Tuesday when they will continue discussing the case

He also told them he would accept a majority rather than a unanimous verdict

Jake Blakeley 18 of Venners Water Didcot denies one count of preventing a lawful burial in December 2013

His brother Ben Blakeley 23 of Christchurch Road, Reading, was last year found guilty of murdering Jayden (pictured) on December 3 2013 and was jailed for a minimum of 20 years

Jake is accused of helping his brother dig two holes, one in a field near Upton and the other at his uncle Alan Kennedy's grave in Didcot to hide Jayden's body

But the teenager says he thought they were for a dead cat, dog and weapons

Oxford Crown Court heard last Friday police only discovered her body after Jake passed a note to his lawyer at his first court appearance on December 17 2013 telling them where it was

He also said if he had known Ben had killed Jayden he would have "run away" and "called the police"

The 18-year-old was charged with assisting an offender on December 16 2013, after nine police interviews and appeared in court the following day

A statement read out by prosecutor Matthew Walsh on behalf of Detective Sergeant Rhian Evans described the events in court.

4,450 home plans for Valley Park submitted

By Adam Flinn
adam.flinn@oxfordmailnewspapers.co.uk

AN APPLICATION to build almost 4,500 new homes next to Great Western Park in Didcot has been submitted to Vale of White Horse District Council.

The plans would see 4,450 houses built in the parish of Harwell on land to the west of Great Western Park as well as the construction of community facilities, schools and sports pitches.

It comes after initial plans announced last year by developers Hallam Land Management, Taylor Wimpey and Persimmon were for 2,550 homes – almost 2,000 less.

And concerns have been raised that the proposed housing figure is too high for the site and fears that the development would come too close to the village of Harwell.

The density of housing on the site has also been questioned, with an average of 40 houses per hectare being proposed.

Reg Waite, district councillor for Harwell, said: "I'm not happy.

"In fact so many people are disappointed because it did start off at a much lower figure.

"The residents of Harwell would love to have seen a gap from when one goes over the A34 so there was a distance between the village and Valley Park.

"One thing we are concerned about is the density of houses and that is something we will be taking forward.

"It is disappointing but nevertheless houses are required in the Vale desperately and at the moment the demand is such that house prices and rent are really far too high."

Taylor Wimpey were unavailable for comment as the Oxfordshire Guardian went to press.

However, the developers introduction to their planning proposals said that Valley Park would "provide a number of key facilities that will serve the new community".

It continued: "It will be a distinctive development in its own right that will have a unique sense of place that builds on its inherent assets – its existing topography, ecology, footpaths and lanes.

"It will have a number of character areas that take their inspiration from adjoining towns and villages but with a feel that reflects the area's status as a UK centre for enterprise and innovation."

Record number of health changes proposed

▪ Paramedic care in the city centre on weekend evenings is one of the recommendations taken on board

MORE than 40 changes to the way health and social care services are provided in Oxfordshire are underway after being recommended by watchdog Healthwatch.

A report published on Tuesday by Healthwatch showed a record 44 changes to the Oxfordshire Clinical Commissioning Group and Oxfordshire County Council were taken on board.

These included the roll out of mental health services in schools, the introduction of paramedic care in the city centre on weekend evenings, and steps to improve access to interpretation and translation services.

Other recommendations are to support access to social care by ethnic minority communities and plans to increase community support services for people with learning disabilities.

Rachel Coney, CEO of Healthwatch Oxfordshire, said: "We would like to thank service commissioners and providers across the county for taking patients' views seriously.

"I hope that being able to announce success on this scale will really give the public confidence that talking to us can make a difference.

"Healthwatch is also pressing for an improvement in waiting times for child and adolescent mental health services.

"We will also be working much more closely with hospitals on issues around hospital discharge and dignity in care, and we look forward to these projects yielding results in a year's time."

Burglary link

BOTLEY AND CUMNOR Police are appealing for witnesses after three burglaries were reported in Botley and Cumnor last week.

The first took place between 2pm last Thursday and 12.45am the following day in Stone Close, where offenders broke in through the rear door and stole jewellery.

The second was in Turnpike Road in Cumnor between 5.30pm and 8.30pm on Thursday, when thieves broke in though an unsecure door and took cash and foreign currency.

And the third was on the same road in Cumnor between 3.30pm on Thursday and 1pm on Friday, when cash was stolen.

Police believe the burglaries are linked.

Anyone with information is being urged to call the police non-emergency phone number on 101.

Longer hours

STANFORD IN THE VALE The Post Office branch in High Street is set to open for an extra 67 hours a week from next month.

From February 10 the branch will be open Monday to Saturday from 6.30am to 11pm and on Sundays from 8am to 10pm.

The branch will temporarily close on February 14 over the weekend to carry out refurbishment work.

Post Office area manager Alan Ridout said of the refurbishment: "We are confident this vibrant new style Post Office at the heart of the community will be popular."

Prison suicides

BICESTER Two convicts committed suicide while serving time at Bullingdon Prison, near Bicester, during 2014, according to national figures.

Statistics compiled by charity the Howard League for Penal Reform also suggest overcrowding at the county's only prison.

Only 879 of the 1,114 prisoners are being held in what is described as decent and safe accommodation.

Tax rise proposed for Oxfordshire's residents

COUNCIL tax bills look set to rise for residents across the county after Oxfordshire County Council's cabinet recommended an increase of almost two per cent.

The cabinet voted at its meeting on Tuesday to put forward its budget to full council which includes a rise to its annual rates of 1.99 per cent.

With yearly rates for a band D property currently at £1,232.46, the proposed increase would add an extra £24.50 to bills.

Other recommendations included allocating £500,000 to proceed with the preliminary design of the Didcot Northern Perimeter Road to link the A4130 Abingdon Road and B4016 junction to the A4130 and Hadden Hill junction.

This would be funded through Section 106 money – given to a council by property developers to help develop community infrastructure.

An increase of £364,000 to the budget to upgrade Frideswide Square in Oxford ahead of work starting on the site next month was also approved by the cabinet.

County councillors are scheduled to discuss the proposed budget at their upcoming meeting on February 17 where a final decision will be made on the budget for April 2015 to 2016.

High court rejects city stadium appeal

Judge sends jurors home from court until Tuesday

• From front page

It read "Mark Glendennng his solicitor indicated to me that his client wanted to talk to the police again.

"I was handed by Mr Glend enning a piece of paper and he said to me this is my instruc tion from my client

"It said I Jake Blakeley con firm, as far as I am aware the body of Jayden Parkinson is buried in the grave of my uncle Alan in Great Western Cem etery Didcot."

A further statement read out by Mr Walsh from a police interview after the hearing said Jake was "unaware" he had helped to "dispose" of Jayden s body

Detective Sergeant Craig Kirby gave evidence in the witness box and said Jake also knew of a second site and led police officers to the field near Upton.

The teenager also took to the stand on Friday and said he was unaware Ben had killed Jayden when he met his brother on December 4.

Jake said he had known Jayden since he was 13 years old through friends in Didcot but had not spoken to her for eight months.

He said he met Ben by a bench at Mowbray Fields in Didcot on December 4 and they walked along an old railway line and a footbridge.

Jake added "He said dig there I said 'why?' and he said it s weapons.

"He had many weapons but not on him. He had knives screwdrivers modified pens hammers samurais lots of stuff – I thought it was very likely."

He told the jury that it took up to an hour and a half to dig the three foot hole.

Martin Steen defending, asked "Did you think you were digging a grave?"

The 18 year old said "No "Ben said we re going for a fag so we went back to the bridge and he said go and wait at the first bridge until you hear me whistle."

Mr Steen said, "How far did you have to go?"

Jake replied, "It was quite a distance I would say about 200 feet It s quite a big field."

OXFORD S greyhound stadium will remain a conservation area after a high court judge threw out an appeal by the site s owo ers last Thursday.

Greyhound Racing Associa tion (GRA) Acquisition Lim ited s appeal was dismissed by Mr Justice Ouseley at the Royal Courts of Justice in London on January 22.

Oxford City Council desig nated Oxford Stadium in Sandy Lane as a conservation area in April last year making it harder for developers to get permission to knock it down for housing.

GRA Acquisition Ltd had planned to sell the site to develo pers Gallard Homes but the city council turned down an application for 220 homes in January 2014.

Oxford East MP Andrew Smith said he hoped the sta dium s owners would now see sense.

By Jack Johnson
jack@taylornewspapers.co.uk

He added, "This is a massive boost for the campaign to save the stadium.

"The site owners should now face facts and fall in with the clear wish of local people which is to get the stadium fully open again.

"They can either do that by selling it or putting in a long lease.

"We need to have someone owning and running the sta dium who really believes in its future."

Oxford Stadium s greyhound track closed in December 2012 and speedway stopped in 2008.

GRA Acquisition Ltd chal lenged the council s ruling on four counts all of which the judge rejected.

The company argued the land was not an area and there was nothing special about the sta dium that could make it worth protecting.

It was also argued that the officer s report was significantly misleading and the purpose of designating it as a conservation area was to frustrate develop ment proposals.

City council leader Bob Price said "We are very pleased the high court has dismissed the challenge from the develop ers.

"The court found the designa tion process had been carried out in a thorough and exemplary manner which met all the statu tory requirements."

Spokesperson for Gallard Homes Madeleine Flower said "We are considering the judgement to determine our options."

The Guardian attempted to contact GRA Acquisition Ltd but there was no response.

Sports centre set to be named in Acer's honour

By Adam Flinn
adam.flinn@oxfordnewspapers.co.uk

OXFORD University will name its new sports centre in Iffley Road after the late Olympic rower and scholar Acer Nethercott it was announced this week

Acer won silver at the 2008 Olympics in Beijing and coxed three Oxford crews to victory in the Boat Race between 2000 and 2005 while also receiving a first class degree in physics and philosophy from the university

The announcement was made on Monday two years to the day since the 35 year old died of brain cancer

The new sports centre will be the first building in a £60million redevelopment of the university's Iffley Road complex which is expected to be completed next year

Glynis Evans Acer's mother said "The idea of naming the new sports centre building after Acer is awesome

"It is a source of comfort as well as one of huge pride, to continue to hear of Acer's lasting impact and I am deeply touched that the new sports centre will be named after him"

Andrew Triggs Hodge Acer's rowing teammate for Oxford and Great Britain added "Acer always strove hard no matter what he was aiming for

"I knew him through his endeavour to be the best cox he could be a restless mission of self improvement.

"Through the gifts towards the Acer Nethercott Sports Hall he will be remembered as a role model He role he fell was most rewarding.

The new sports centre will increase the space for more than 80 clubs and members

Subsequent phases of the project will include an indoor tennis centre a combined rugby and rowing training centre and a grandstand incorporating a cricket school

Professor Andrew Hamilton, vice chancellor of Oxford University, added "We are delighted to name our new sports centre building after Acer Nethercott

"Acer was the model of a scholar athlete as he not only achieved incredible sporting success but also excelled in his studies at Oxford gaining a first and a doctorate in the philosophy of language"

New hotel on the way

PLANNERS are in "advanced discussions" to build a four-star hotel at the Milton Gate development on the outskirts of Didcot.

The Oxfordshire Guardian previously reported that a hotel was top of the wish list for the nine-acre site

Property investment and development company MEPC which also runs Milton Park owns the land off the A4130

Philip Campbell, head of Asset Management at MEPC said "MEPC is in advanced discussions for a four star hotel with conference facilities at Milton Gate and hopes to be in position to make a formal announcement in the coming weeks.

"A recent report by South and Vale district councils concluded that there is a real need for further overnight accommodation in this area.

"The new Milton Gate hotel will help address this issue and be a further amenity for the businesses at Milton Park and others in the region."

A34 closures in force as Milton work begins

• A drawing of how the completed work at Milton Interchange will look

By Adam Flinn
adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

NIGHTTIME closures are now in force at Milton Interchange as the next stage of an £11million project on the junction began on Monday

Preparatory work is underway on the A34 ahead of the start of continuous roadworks from February 16 to carry out the project over the coming months

This includes installing CCTV altering lane markings removing permanent safety barriers and constructing a hardened crossover

From February 16 onwards, traffic travelling south will be subject to a 30mph speed limit with the left lane being diverted down the slip road around the roundabout and back up onto the A34

A 40mph limit will be in force on the northbound carriageway while one of the lanes on the A4130 roundabout will be coned off

Work at the interchange is expected to finish early next year

David Nimmo Smith Oxfordshire County Council's cabinet member for transport said "The next phase of traffic management will undoubtedly have an effect on traffic

"The good news is that the arrangements will maintain two lanes of traffic on the A34 although there will be lower speed limits and a short diversion off the A34 for some

"We are doing this work now to ensure that the junction has the capacity to cope with the demands of traffic in the future

"I know that knowing this is unlikely to help anyone who is affected by delays to their journeys in the coming months but by carrying out the work now we are safeguarding against regular delays in the future"

Work also started on Monday at Featherbed Lane in Milton Hill and at Hagbourne Hill both of which are expected to last for nine weeks

Featherbed Lane is now shut between the A417 Wantage Road and the A4130 Abingdon Road while Hagbourne Hill is closed from the A417 to Townsend in Chilton

This is so resurfacing strengthening the edge of the carriageways and drainage works can be carried out

"I'd always dreamt of a career in golf" said Tony "That was all I wanted to do when I was at school

"I remember walking into the club for the first time and immediately being impressed with how everything was run and just how friendly the members were

"I wouldn't have believed it if you'd told me I would be there for quite this long purely because I didn't realise at the time I was going to enjoy it as much as I have done"

Despite his imminent retirement Tony admitted he won't be giving up golf completely but will be spending more time with his grandchildren.

"Boosting engineering skills investment in improving the roads, investing in innovation – there s a lot of locally based investment from this £108m

The Oxfordshire Growth Deal was first announced back in July and comes after £1 2billion was awarded as part of the Oxford City Deal last January

Ian Hudspeth, leader of Oxford shire County Council, said "It's great news it s recognition that government looks at us as a growth canofy in getting the funding for infrastructure.

"It s obviously vital for the county because everybody knows the issues around the infrastructure, but also the skills because we've got to cre ate these jobs

He continued "We need the skilled workforce coming in and it s not just about the high tech jobs it's about creating jobs for all levels because we need the back up to encourage that growth in Oxfordshire."

The Growth Deal is part of a £12bn programme by gov ernment to provide a funding boost for local economies nation wide

Oxfordshire LEP is currently working with businesses and council leaders in the county to discuss additional funding for projects

Details of specific projects are expected later in the year

Celebrity chef set to open city restaurant

Marco Pierre White will open a new restaurant at the Mercure Oxford Eastgate Townhouse

CELEBRITY chef Marco Pierre White will open a new Italian-American inspired restaurant in the centre of Oxford next month.

Marco's New York Italian will be unveiled at the Mercure Oxford Eastgate Townhouse in the High Street on February 12.

It takes over from The High Table Brasserie and Bar at a building steeped in Oxford history.

The townhouse was built on the site of a 17th century coaching inn and is said to be where author C S Lewis proposed to his girlfriend.

J.R.R. Tolkien – another author embedded within the city's history lived nearby and dined at the hotel.

Mr Pierre White's restaurant will serve the chef's take on American Italian food, including fresh pasta, steaks, seafood, burgers and handmade pizzas.

The restaurant will be a part of the Mercure Oxford Eastgate Hotel in High Street.

It will be run as a franchise of Marco's New York Italian after a deal was struck with trading company Blackened White Franchising.

Work has already started and hotel manager Peter Watt said: "The presence of a Marco Pierre White restaurant will bring an exciting new vibe to the hotel.

"It will sit well with those looking to do business in a relaxed setting, as well as visitors taking in the many attractions that are right on our doorstep."

Nick Teplin, chairman of Blackand White Franchising, added: "The idea behind this restaurant is to create an environment where people can sit and enjoy their life.

"It is all about providing a place where people can go for some good, wholesome food and a nice bottle of wine in a relaxed, affordable and friendly setting.

"We want people to come here and make their visit as formal or informal, expensive or inexpensive as they wish."

It will be Mr Pierre White's first restaurant in Oxford, joining fellow celebrity chefs Jamie Oliver and Raymond Blanc in setting up eateries in the city.

Travel chaos needs solving

THOUSANDS of my constituents commute in and out of Oxford every day, many choosing public transport to avoid congestion on our local roads.

Like the many commuters who use our railways daily, I welcome the new rail projects underway across my constituency, including East West Rail Phase 1, upgrading the line between Oxford and Bicester, the new Oxford Parkway Station at Water Eaton, and electrification of the Great Western Mainline, all of which will improve links between Oxford and other large cities such as London.

But despite all of this investment, it is disappointing that still residents face daily delays and uncertainty about how they will get to work and when they will get home to their families.

I share my constituents frustration in experiencing delay after delay with no explanation as to what the problem is and when it will be fixed.

As we saw over the Christmas period, planned engineering works often do not go as planned and can cause commuter chaos.

Even without pre-planned engineering projects, First Great Western services between Oxford and Paddington are delayed almost on a daily basis. This is simply not good enough, and customer satisfaction levels are at an all-time low.

As with all infrastructure development, it has to work for the local community.

That is why I am working hard with local residents, the city council and Network Rail to ensure effective mitigation is delivered as promised.

Man jailed after £10k haul of drugs found

By Adam Flinn
adam@lapinewspapers.co.uk

A MAN has been sentenced to six years in prison after a mix of crack, heroin and cocaine worth £10,000 was discovered in a house in Oxford.

Ian Hunter, 37, of Prideaux Road in London, was sentenced at Oxford Crown Court on January 16.

He pleaded guilty to possession with intent to supply the drugs and to possession of criminal property.

Hunter was arrested on January 20 last year after two officers saw Hunter acting suspiciously while driving a silver car in St Martin's Road, Oxford, which he then abandoned and walked away from.

He was stopped and initially denied being with the car despite having the keys on him.

• Ian Hunter

The car was then searched and class A drugs were found in the centre console and nearby to the car where Hunter had walked and he was subsequently arrested.

Hunter then tried to run away before officers caught him on Ashhurst Way.

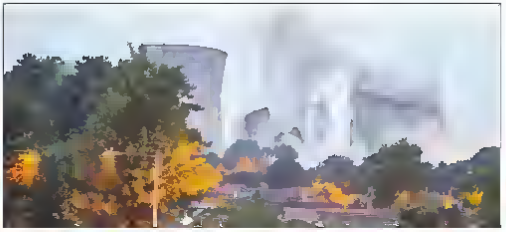
Police then searched a house in Wynbush Road where the car had been registered to, where they found a substantial amount of crack cocaine mixed with heroin and cocaine, worth in the region of £10,000.

A total of £6,000 in cash was also found on top of the fridge.

A woman who was living at the house, 35 year old Angela Williams, was also arrested on suspicion of possession with intent to supply class A drugs after she was found to have £49,950 in cash in her handbag.

She was found guilty at a trial last November and sentenced on the same day as Hunter to 12 months in prison suspended for two years, a four month curfew and ordered to pay £1,750 in costs.

Power station set for further demolition



• Didcot A Power Station's southern cooling towers were demolished last July (picture by Les Chase)

THERE will be further demolition works at Didcot A Power Station this year, energy company RWE npower has revealed.

Didcot's three southern cooling towers were demolished last July and the coal yard was cleared in November.

External outdoor air systems connecting the chimney to the main power station, as well as fuel oil tanks, have also been removed from the site.

And during the summer contractors Coleman & Company will explosively demolish the main power station buildings.

RWE npower spokesperson Kelly Brown said: "The current plan is to use explosive demolition on the main station buildings in summer 2015.

"The already established consultation process will determine the best date and time for these activities to ensure the safety of everyone involved."

The northern cooling towers and chimney will be toppled during spring and summer next year and demolition is expected to be completed by September 2016.

So far over 20,000 tonnes of scrap metal and 26,000 tonnes of concrete have been processed and recycled from the power station site.

County's helicopters ready for Afghanistan

UPGRADED helicopters developed in Kidlington are set to be deployed to Afghanistan within the next few weeks following the completion of a £260million government contract.

Airbus Helicopters based at London Oxford Airport, had been tasked with improving 24 Puma helicopters for the Ministry of Defence (MoD) to extend their lifespan.

The five year contract was completed last year and saw all of the major components replaced on the helicopters as part of a modernisation project.

And secretary of state for defence Michael Fallon was at their Oxford Airport headquarters last Thursday to tour the facility and see the work that they had done.

He said: "What I've seen here is the Puma extension that's been done to upgrade the Puma for it's operations in Afghanistan.

"Work's also being done here to upgrade helicopters to ensure we're able to deploy people very quickly if there's a terrorist outbreak in Britain.

"This is an example of the frontline defence spending more on defence and putting money in to create high value jobs."

Almost 200 people are employed by Airbus at Oxford Airport with 440 of their helicopters flying in the UK today.

Colin James managing director of Airbus Helicopters said: "We've spent five years putting that project into reality and delivering last year the entry to service.

Because Oxford is our headquarters we have people from the local area and we provide work for other companies here at the airport.

"The company here creates 200 jobs and probably the same again in terms of the work we create for things such as engineering, maintenance, that sort of thing."

Oxford West and Abingdon MP Nicola Blackwood invited Mr Fallon to visit Airbus last week.

She said: "We've got some very important work going on here with the Pumas making sure we have these helicopters combat ready for our troops.

"I wanted the secretary of state to come and see the work being done here and for the employees and apprentices working here to explain the importance of the work they are doing.

She continued: "Airbus is a major employer in my constituency and I think that's a very valuable contribution to our community."

Ceilidh carnival

OXFORD: An evening of Scottish folk dancing to raise money for this year's Cowley Road Carnival will be held at East Oxford Primary School on Friday February 6.

This year's festival takes place on July 5 and residents can get into the spirit early at the carnival's Ceilidh night – an evening of traditional high energy country dancing.

The dance is ideal for beginners and young children as a caller shouts instructions out from the front.

The event will be held between 7pm and 9.30pm at the Union Street school.

Councils' role in the community

THE last couple of weeks have given me cause to reflect on the value of the services that councils provide to the community.

The terrible fire at South Oxfordshire District Council's offices didn't only destroy the property and displace 400 workers from their usual routine, the disruption to services has the potential to impact people's lives as the council provides emergency support in areas such as housing.

It has been heartening to see all those involved in local government putting their political differences to one side to offer the hand of friendship and support to colleagues at SODC.

In Wallingford the link between the council and the local community is vital and we always welcome local residents to our meetings.

Recent speakers have included Martin Thompson and Gareth Lloyd Jones who gave an update on the Beacon Youth Project. Tom Fox on the work of the Citizens Advice Bureau, and Mark Brett of the 1155 club which organises the fireworks and raised over £8,000 for local charities and organisations.

We also awarded grants to other local groups including Home Start, GirlGuiding and the Oxfordshire Association for the Blind.

In May there will be an election for the 10 councillors who make up Wallingford Town Council.

Many of our existing councillors will be standing down and we need more people to come forward to support our most local level of government.

It is important that councils have councillors who not only reflect and represent the communities they serve, but also have a broad range of skills and life experience.

If you would like to explore this further, please contact me or any member of the council, or come along to one of our meetings to see how it all works – we meet on a Monday evening at 6.30pm. The schedule of meetings can be found at wallingfordtc.co.uk.

Puzzles

Sudoku

The objective is to fill a 9×9 grid with digits so that each column, each row, and each of the nine 3×3 sub-grids that compose the grid (also called "boxes", "blocks", "regions", or "sub-squares") contains all of the digits from 1 to 9. The puzzle setter provides a partially completed grid, which for a well-posed puzzle has a unique solution.

Wallingford students get a helping hand for their trip to Kenya

Twelve students from Wallingford School who are hoping to travel to Kenya as part of a programme to help HIV orphans have been given a helping hand by Linden Homes

The students came to Cholsey Meadows, the Linden Homes development in the village of Cholsey, to accept a cheque from the house building company towards the cost of the trip

During their Kenyan adventure the students under the guidance of the Abingdon based Nasio Trust will be helping to construct buildings and will work with the orphaned children painting creating memory books and devising other games and activities

Poppy Taylor 15 is one of the students and said "We want to give these children the opportunities we had when we were growing up.

"Not only will we be helping the local community but we will also try to ensure these children can have the education they deserve – and live a happy life – even without parents

Naomi Burrell Linden Homes marketing and communications manager added "These students have shown amazing dedication already

"They've spent months raising the thousands they need to go to Kenya and the fact that these young people want to go out there and do what they can to improve the lives of these children is very commendable

"We are delighted to be able to help them achieve their goal"

Connells raises over £2,000 for NSPCC

Estate agency Connells which has a branch in Witney has donated just over £2 000 to the National Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children (NSPCC)

The money which was raised at an annual event for senior staff was recently presented to the NSPCC at the agent's head office in Bedfordshire

"I am delighted that we are yet again able to make a donation to the NSPCC and support such an important cause" said Connells chief executive Stuart Flavell

"We have made a number of donations to the NSPCC over recent years and it is a pleasure to be able to continue this"

The NSPCC is the UK's leading charity specialising in child protection and the prevention of cruelty to children The charity runs a range of locally based services for children and families campaigns to help change and improve the lives of children runs a helpline for adults to call if they are concerned about a child and provides ChildLine the UK's free confidential 24-hour helpline and online service for children and young people to call if they need help or advice

Sally Phipps community fundraising manager at the NSPCC said "A huge thank you to all staff from Connells estate agency for raising a fantastic amount for our charity

"We rely heavily on the generous donations from members of the public and businesses who without their support we couldn't continue to run our vital services protecting children and young people"

Mark Weston from Perry Bishop & Chambers goes over the introduction of the Help to Buy schemes and how they have fared throughout 2014

The Help to Buy equity loan scheme (known as Help to Buy 1) launched in April 2014 and has been a huge success giving buyers with small deposits the chance to get onto the housing ladder as well as aiding in the recovery of the housing market

Only available on new build properties worth up to £600 000 the scheme can be accessed by all borrowers but applicants must not have another property cannot take out loans on an interest only basis or let the Help to Buy property out

To buy a house using the scheme borrowers contribute a deposit worth five per cent of the property's value whilst the government provides a loan equivalent to 20 per cent The remaining 75 per cent is obtained from a traditional mortgage lender

This means that a buyer with a £10 000 deposit could access finance which enables them to purchase a house worth £200 000 under the scheme

The Help to Buy mortgage guarantee scheme (known as Help to Buy 2) helps home buyers with good credit records who can afford to purchase the property outright with a deposit as low as five per cent

These include first time buyers trying to get onto the property ladder and second movers needing to move up the ladder to a bigger home

These loans are not available for buy-to-let landlords, second home owners or for a shared ownership purchase

Data from our National Mortgage Index shows that the average deposit paid by a HTB2 applicant was £7 856 in November 2014 – the lowest point of the year and seven per cent lower than the previous lowest point

This means that HTB2 applicants need 89 per cent less than those purchasing in the wider market with the typical deposit being £68 628

After consistently reaching its targets throughout 2014 HTB2 has attracted buyer lower salaries who are looking for more affordable properties

Alongside the new Starter Home scheme that was announced in December first time buyers now have numerous opportunities to find varying affordable routes onto the property ladder

To see how you could benefit from one of the government backed schemes you should seek help from a professional mortgage adviser who will be able to guide you through the steps and recommend the right scheme for your situation

How to make a rented property feel like home - Richard Churchill, Leaders' regional director

Living in a rented property doesn't mean you have to give up all choice in the décor of your home

There are some simple steps you can take to bring your own personal style and taste into your home without breaking the terms of your tenancy agreement

While you should never make any alterations to the property itself without seeking permission from your landlord there's nothing to stop you adding some decorative touches throughout the property which will all add up to make it feel like your own

Here are a few tips for tenants looking to make their mark on their rented home

- It may only be a small touch, but start by hanging some of your pictures on the wall and displaying your favourite photographs. If there aren't already picture hooks up you can buy three pin hooks that are cheap and easy to fit and cause almost no damage to walls although you must still secure permission from your landlord before you use these
- Another good idea is to focus on curtains, lampshades and other soft furnishings. In some cases these will have been provided by your landlord but most landlords will be happy for you to store them and use your own. By doing this you will be able to inject your personal tastes into every room and achieve a constant theme or style throughout your home
- Similarly you will be amazed how much difference a colourful, high-quality rug or mat will make. Whether you want to bring some warmth to a room or are aiming to cover worn carpets rugs are always a great way to change the look and feel of a room

If you are worried about your home feeling a little cramped adding a decorative mirror or two can make rooms feel bigger and bring in more light

- If you'd like to display some of your own ornaments photos and knick knacks buying free-standing shelf units is an ideal solution. It means you can have your own things around you. In whichever rooms you like without damaging walls by putting up shelving. You can take the units with you when you leave
- If you have a garden there is plenty you can do to make it attractive so you can enjoy it to the maximum while you're living there. Simple steps such as adding pot plants small shrubs and solar powered lights can bring colour and interest to your garden making it a more pleasant space to spend time. You can also take these with you when you move out

With a little imagination and not too much money you can transform your rented accommodation into a place you love to come home to and where you can enjoy living and entertaining for however long you stay

For advice you can trust on all aspects of renting letting buying or selling property contact your local Leaders branch via leaders.co.uk

Swotting up on becoming a student landlord

ANDREWS

Dreaming spires bicycles and students all make Oxford what it is. But whilst this transient element of the population is mostly associated with the city centre and its outlying suburbs for potential investors further afield there continues to exist a significant investment opportunity

As we continue to receive a strong and sustained flow of enquiries in this respect, perhaps there's never been a better time to think about investing as a student landlord

The reality is that at least 7,500 full time students in Oxford are renting in the private sector – a figure that is almost certain to grow in the coming years

Becoming a student landlord isn't however something you should do without doing your homework first.

First off consider the area you're investing in as well as the type of property and the living space it offers.

Whilst student tastes are increasing they're often more likely than young professionals to accept out of date kitchen or bathroom suites or even be prepared to lose a living room in favour of an extra bedroom

Good broadband availability and close proximity to public transport links and local amenities are also must-haves

In Oxford, the golden triangle concentrated between the Cowley and Iffley Roads continues to be popular as is Jericho due to its proximity to the town centre

Estates directly opposite the Oxford Brookes campus are also prime student territory with Gipsy Lane Harcourt Terrace Grays Road and Valentia Road all firm favourites

From a legal perspective you'll need to check if you are required to hold a Home in Multiple Occupancy (HMO) licence as well as ensuring you have all safety certificates (EPC and gas safety) in place and that you've correctly registered the tenants deposits

We'd also recommend issuing joint tenancies rather than letting rooms on an individual basis. Conducting a quarterly inspection can be a good means of checking in with your tenants and ensuring that all maintenance is dealt with promptly

We focus our student lettings on the more mature student market who often prefer smaller shares so now could be the ideal time to become a student landlord

The Woman in Black

REGARDED as one of the most gripping pieces of theatre in recent years, The Woman in Black is being performed at the Oxford Playhouse until January 31

By James Richings
james.@oxfordmailnewspapers.co.uk

Written by Susan Hill in 1983, the novel focuses on Arthur Kipps a lawyer who has been sent to the eerie Crythin Gifford in the North East of England to attend the funeral of Alice Drablow.

When leaving London for the north, he notices a series of strange events where a certain woman wearing mourning but black appears in secluded parts of Crythin Gifford.

Malcolm James, who plays Arthur Kipps in the critically acclaimed production told the Guardian: "I saw the play in the West End five years ago and just knew I wanted to be in it."

"Apart from being a great piece of theatre it is also a wonderful challenge for a character actor like me as I get to play seven different people."

He added: "This has a fantastic and involving story, a superbly well-crafted piece of play writing, and a scary evening in the best traditions of ghost stories."

"And above all, audience imagination creates something to linger in the memory and maybe cause a few sleepless nights!"

Malcolm isn't a stranger to the historic streets of Oxford, as the 58-year old performer studied modern history at Magdalen College from 1974 to 1977.

The veteran actor performed in 13 plays during his time at the Oxford college, which included a couple at the Burton Taylor Studio in Gloucester Street, Oxford.

"I am thrilled to be back in town, and at the theatre," Malcolm said.

"It was during those last days as a student that I finally decided I wanted to pursue an acting career, so to be back on those boards again – a mere 38 years later – means I think that I made a go of it!"

"Though I have been back occasionally over the years, my acting career has always missed out on the Playhouse until now."

Tickets for the Beaumont Street production cost from £14 to £30, with the performance suitable for anyone over the age of 12.

Harmonica harmonies

REGARDED as one of the best harmonica players in recent times Will Pound and his trusty band will be making their way to the Wychwood Folk Club in Chipping Norton this Saturday February 7.

The Will Pound Band, which consists of Chris Sarjeant, Henry Webster John Parker and founder Will Pound, is preparing to embark on their first ever UK tour.

It starts on January 31 in Scotland, and will finish in Wigan on March 5.

"Hopefully we won't kill each other as we will be in the van for a while!" Will told the Guardian.

"However we are all looking forward to people hearing our music as we feel it's refreshing.

"This will be my first visit to the Wychwood Folk Club and I'm looking forward to it."

Before forming the band the 27-year old from Rugby enjoyed a very successful solo career.

His debut album A Cut Above which was released in 2013, received positive reviews from critics and topped the HMV Folk Chart last April.

In 2012 the musician was nominated for Musician Of The Year at the BBC Radio 2 Folk Awards.

In the same year he played the harmonica in The Hillsborough Single which featured Sir Paul McCartney Beverley Knight and many other well known musicians.

By James Richings
jamesr@oxfordmews.co.uk

The single would later become the year's Christmas Number One.

"I did a solo album a couple of years ago and I wanted to set up a band to play some of the music from that record" Will said.

"However since then it's become a totally equal quartet in terms of ideas music and future projects. I feel this is the best way to gain the best music from everyone."

He added "My dad gave me a harmonica when I was about 10 to help me with my breathing as a result of having open heart surgery as a young child and I don't really listen to other harmonica players.

"Not because I don't like what they do but because I believe you need to listen to other instruments to gain other/new techniques."

The gig in Shipton Road, Chipping Norton will start at 8pm with tickets costing from £10 to £12.

For more information about the show call 01993 831427.

Jeeves and Wooster
Adapted from the beloved works by P.G. Wodehouse, the hilarious antics of Jeeves and Wooster come to the stage in this raucous comedy starring Robert Webb (Peep Show, That Mitchell and Webb Look) as Bertie Wooster.
A weekend in the country takes a turn for the worse when effervescent, aristocratic fool Bertie Wooster is called upon to steal a silver cow creamer whilst playing matchmaker for pal Gussie. Naturally the ever dependable valet Jeeves is on hand to ensure everything turns out well.
Winner of the 2014 Olivier Award for Best New Comedy, Jeeves and Wooster has received a host of four and five star reviews. Get ready to laugh out loud at the theatrical absurdity in the company of this iconic double-act, plus a host of delightfully silly characters including Aunt Dahlia, Roderick Spode and Madeline Bassett. Robert Webb will be joined by Chris Ryan (The Young Ones, Ab Fab) in the role of Seppings.
Tickets cost from £14 to £30.

SAM BAILEY
Sam Bailey is the heartsailing nation's X Factor anthem since whining her face never very touched the ground. Having weaned fans reared down the country headlining the X Factor Tour earlier this year, Sam is set to embark on her very own tour throughout January and February 2015.
The former prison officer has experienced streams becoming safety-mindedly an incredible No. 1 with her debut Skyscraper, supporting Rihanna on tour performing with her idol Mariah Carey at the National Television Awards and now her own headline tour.
Even when performing a mere 15 minutes per set to where I wanted to be. Then call for needing to prey of his message and mutual happiness and you just put everything on hold. X Factor gave a woman like me a chance. I gave me my confidence back. It gives me a mish-mash and that's for all those people out there who believe in me.
Sam Bailey has recently released her sophomore album Burn. This Power Of Love 2014. The Power of Love features a stunning no-lemon-it-reverse and mixed new tracks, all performed with those self-assured soulful notes voice that set the evening on fire. Her mass vocal range Skyscraper, appears alongside her triumphant duet. And I Am Telling You, with Nicole Scherzinger. The album also features the brand new single Burn. See Christmas themed tracks Silent Night, Holy Night and Please Come Home for Christmas, along with an alternative version of her track Peaceful and an already-sold-out Wish You Were Here. NOISES OFF
Described as one of the funniest comedies ever written, University of Oxford students perform Michael Frayn's award-winning play within a play. Noises Off.
A madcap cast and overworked stage crew navigate disaster. Lloyd's production is... Nothing. Oh going shelves, slapstick forgotten lines, missed entrances, whiskey-loving actor and dramatic love triangle. Revealing backstage turmoil and onstage bedlam. Noises Off cleverly follows the play's chameleon-like stage from both the audience's perspective behind the scenes in this superbly written farce."

History in the making for Ford as they release their iconic roadster in the UK

Mustang makes it to Britain

REVIEW Ford Mustang
By James Richings

THIS month marked a special moment in automotive history as customers in the UK were...for the first time ever able to order the new Ford Mustang more than 50 years after the iconic vehicle first went into production.

Originally brought out five months before the 1965 production year the first generation Ford Mustang was introduced to the world at the 1964 New York World's Fair.

Since then, six generations of the well recognisable car have been launched with the latest edition having a well equipped 314bhp 2.3 litre EcoBoost engine or a 418bhp 5.0-litre V8 engine.

The latest edition of the Ford family comes with a whole host of new features which includes 19 inch wheels a performance brake package automatic HID xenon headlights LED tail lights and a rear diffuser.

Further standard equipment includes dual-zone climate control a nine-speaker sound system and SYNC 2 voice control connectivity with an eight-inch colour touch screen.

"There has never been a better time to introduce this iconic car across Europe," Ford of Europe's vice president of marketing, sales and service Roelant de Waard said.

"The all new Ford Mustang is the most modern, technologically advanced and forward looking Mustang in the amazing history of the marquee.

"Being able to specify a Mustang that reflects your individual character has always been a key part of the model's appeal.

"With our new app, customers will be able to see exactly how the all new Mustang could look outside their house and as a part of their life."

In addition to the new features Smartphone and tablet users can see and share exactly how their chosen Mustang could look using a new augmented reality app that places the car in the setting of their choice.

The new Ford Mustang fastback and convertible models are available to order from Ford stores.

They are priced from £28,995.

Brave Welsh come close to first victory

By Jack Johnson
jack@oxfordnewspapers.co.uk

LONDON Welsh's winless campaign continued last Sunday despite pushing French side Lyon all the way in their final European Rugby Challenge Cup pool game.

Late tries from Rob Lewis and Koree Britton set up a grandstand finish at the Kassam Stadium but the Top 14 side snuck over the line with a 17-12 victory.

The Exiles have now lost 21 successive matches this season, with their last competitive win coming in the play-off final against Bristol last June.

Last Sunday's bonus point defeat saw the Exiles finish bottom of pool four with one point with Edinburgh and Lyon advancing to the quarter-finals.

Welsh return to Aviva Premiership action on February 15 but LV=Cup ties against Saracens and Newport Gwent Dragons await them over the next fortnight.

At the weekend Lyon looked to be coasting to a comfortable victory after tries from Thibaut Regard, Lachie Munro and Damien Fitzpatrick.

However as late charge saw the Exiles close to within five points and a converted try of ending their winless run but Lyon held on to claim victory.

The French side were on the front foot early on with Chris Elder forced to concede a five-metre scrum but Eugene Nzu's try was ruled out for a double movement.

But the reprieve was only short as Regard collected a chip over the top and went over the whitewash before Munro ghosted over in the corner after a turnover ball.

Two tries in the space of four minutes sparked the Exiles into life but despite forcing their way to the corner they were unable to push over the line.

Welsh were forced to settle for a ten point deficit at the break but after half-time errors began to set in.

And with the Exiles pinned in their 22, hooker Fitzpatrick accepted an offload and burst through to score Lyon's third try which Munro converted for 17-0.

With 20 minutes to go the introduction of Elliot Kear injected new life into the Exiles and it was his break that created Welsh's first score.

The former rugby league star found a gap and released James Lewis before Eddie Aholelei's through the legs pass fed Rhys Crane.

The winger had Lewis on his inside shoulder and the scrum-half went over the line with Trystan Roberts adding the extras.

Welsh suddenly had renewed purpose and after Aholelei was hauled down short of the try line, Britton had the power to force his way over in the corner.

With the French side up against it the Exiles were galvanised and worked their way to Lyon's 22 in the final minute.

However, the visitors were awarded a scrum and a subsequent penalty saw an end to Welsh's brave late effort.

City slip to defeat against Worcester

OXFORD City have slipped seven points adrift of the Vanarama Conference North play-off places after their poor run of form continued last weekend.

Justin Merritt's side were beaten 1-0 by Worcester City last Saturday and are now 12th in the table.

City haven't won since New Year's Day and are on a five match winless run in all competitions.

Wayne Thomas scored the only goal of the game last weekend on the hour after he volleyed home from close range.

Merritt's side had created the better chances but it was Worcester who emerged victorious and recorded their first win of the calendar year.

Next up for City is Tamworth at Marsh Lane on Saturday.

The Lambs are third in the table, seven points behind league leaders AFC Fylde.

Saturday will mark Tamworth's first ever visit to Marsh Lane in the 30 year history of the club.

Britton praises coach Phillips

LONDON Welsh hooker Koree Britton has hailed the impact of defence coach Rowland Phillips.

The Exiles are still winless this season but the 22-year-old believes Phillips has added a defensive resolve to the squad.

Phillips, a former London Welsh player and Wales international, joined as a coach in November.

Britton said: "You can definitely see there has been a difference (since Phillips' arrival).

"I personally feel it has affected the scoreline and the way the boys are playing in a defensive structure.

"It has helped masses and with him playing at Welsh when he was in his days it is a real honour for him to (do that as well I think)."

London Welsh are in LV=Cup action this Sunday and welcome Saracens to the Kassam Stadium.

Britton added: "It will be a massive challenge.

"They have got quality players but they are not always going to perform at their best and they may slip up.

"We have just got to relish that and make the most of what we can."

ROBERTS UPBEAT AFTER SCORING LAST-GASP STRIKE

By Jack Johnson
jack@informers.papers.co.uk

JAMES Roberts believes his injury time equaliser against Exeter City on Saturday will give Oxford United a much needed boost ahead of this weekend's trip to Stevenage

Alex Nicholls' 88th minute header looked to have condemned United to a fourth successive league defeat but 18-year old Roberts struck in the 92nd minute to earn a 2-2 draw

It even emerged that Roberts, who has been struggling with a hamstring injury since the beginning of the month, did not expect to be involved on Saturday but was named on the bench

United moved up a place to 16th in Sky Bet League Two and are now four points above the relegation zone

Roberts said: "It's a huge goal you can't even put it into words

"We thought it was going to be another one of those days but we dug our feet in

"We talk a lot in the changing room about stepping stones and this is a platform to go onto the next one

"It is a massive momentum boost for us."

Danny Hylton volleyed United into an 18th minute lead but Arron Davies fired Exeter level eight minutes before half time

And the visitors looked to have won it on 88 minutes through Nicholls' header but Roberts had other ideas and earned Oxford a share of the spoils

Seven of Saturday's 18-man squad came through United's academy with teenager Josh Ashby making his professional debut in the centre of midfield

And head coach Michael Appleton praised Oxford's young guns

He said: "The young lads that have come in have done fantastically well

"I think there will be a lot of Oxford fans looking forward to the future because we had some really good young talent out there."

United also revealed their first addition of the January transfer window last weekend with defender Joe Skarz being unveiled before the game

The 25-year old was released by Sky Bet Championship club Rotherham United last week and United were quick to snap him up

Appleton added: "He will be a great addition

"Fortunately from our point of view he sees the potential within the football club and he wants to be a part of that."

On Monday Tom Newey left the club by mutual consent. The 32-year old had been on loan at Northampton Town since October and joined the Cobblers permanently on Tuesday
